

D.C. GEO, 105—

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA WASHINGTON (Georgetown)

State

County

Town or Vicinity

*5p
15d

Structure

Cooke's Row, Villa No. 3 (DC-182)

3013 Q St., N.W. (Georgetown). Brick double house, H-shaped, 48' (six-bay front) x 73' (not including later additions), two-and-a-half stories on raised basement, low-pitched gable roofs with large square central cupola, wide eaves with paired brackets, tall, narrow round-arched windows on first floor, rectangular windows with brick hood molds on second floor, three graduated windows in gable ends, paired round-arch entrances in recessed central portion of facade, iron balcony above entrance (over)

Form 10-444 (2/62) * 1P = FLOOR PLAN

HISTORIC AMERICAN BUILDINGS SURVEY

trances, side hall plans, Italianate style. Built 1868; Starkweather and Plowman, architects. One of a row of four villas, the end two in the French Second Empire style, the center two, Italianate. Built for Henry D. Cooke, first territorial governor of the District of Columbia. Records deal with eastern half of double house only. 2 ext. photos (1968), 2 int. photos (1968), photocopy of sketch plan (1968); 15 data pages (1968).

Card prepared June 1972